Meet The New Chief

The gathering will give residents an opportunity to become acquainted with the new chief, offer a personal welcome and learn more about the leadership of the Hardin Police Department.

Community gatherings such as this can help establish communication between law enforcement officers and the people they serve. They also provide an informal setting where residents can introduce themselves and begin building relationships with local officials.

Again, the meet-and-greet is scheduled for tonight beginning at 7 p.m.

Hardin's first opponent has not yet been determined, as other teams must complete their qualifying matches before the tournament bracket can be finalized.

The Lady Bulldogs will now prepare for another round of postseason competition, hoping to continue their winning ways

Crow Legislature Rejects Tribal Enrollment Proposal

The Crow Tribal Legislature has rejected a proposal that would have changed how tribal membership eligibility is determined.

The measure, introduced by Crow Chairman Frank White Clay, would have designated all currently enrolled tribal members as having full Crow ancestry for enrollment purposes.

Supporters argued the change would help preserve tribal membership for future generations, particularly children and grandchildren who might not meet existing enrollment requirements.

Opponents expressed concerns about the potential effects of expanded enrollment on tribal resources and questioned whether the proposal was the best approach.

Following nearly two hours of debate, legislators rejected the measure by a vote of 10–7.

The decision leaves existing enrollment requirements unchanged, although tribal leaders may consider other proposals in the future.

Hardin Residents Invited to Meet New Police Chief

Residents will have an opportunity to meet Hardin's new police chief, Benjamin Allen, during a community meet-and-greet tonight, Thursday, October 29, from 7 to 8 p.m. at City Hall.

The City of Hardin has announced the event as an opportunity to welcome Chief Allen to the community and introduce him to the people he will be serving.
